

FBI Links Two to 'Black Mafia'

Arrested By Agents In S. Phila.

By HARRY GOULD
Inquirer Staff Writer

An FBI agent testified before a U.S. magistrate Friday that two South Philadelphia men arrested Thursday in connection with an attempt to extort money from a Germantown bar owner are members of the "Black Mafia" narcotics and extortion ring.

FBI special agent Melvin Jeter said that "reliable informants" had linked Larry Starks, 25, of the 1400 block of S. 13th st., and his cousin, Clarence Starks, 22, of the 2000 block of Fitzwater st., with the crime syndicate.

The Starks were arrested Thursday night by FBI agents at Nookie's Bar, 6301 Wister st., where the two allegedly tried to extort $500 from bar owner Ulysses L. Rice for "protection."

A third man, DeRamus L. Knowles, 23, of the 600 block

Knowles is in critical condition at Germantown Hospital. FBI agents said they had taken a knife from him.

Testimony on the Starks' involvement with the Black Mafia came at a bail hearing before U.S. Magistrate Edwin E. Naythons in U.S. District Court.

Special agent Jeter testified, despite strenuous objections from the Starks' attorneys, that Larry Starks was known to have "a position of high leadership" in the organization.

Jeter testified also that the Black Mafia had a pervasive "protective shakedown" operation, in which money is extorted from black businessmen in return for protection.

The FBI warrant charges that Feb. 15 the Starks demanded the $500 payment from Rice and brandished what appeared to Rice as a handgun. The two allegedly told Rice to have the money by 8:45 P.M., Feb. 15.

Rice telephoned the FBI on Feb. 20, and asked for help. Several agents were waiting for the Starks to arrive Thursday night.

Judge Naythons set $100,000 bail for Larry Starks, and $25,000 for Clarence Starks.

Bail Set for 2 Linked With 'Black Mafia'

A U.S. magistrate yesterday held two South Philadelphia men in high bail on extortion charges after an FBI agent testified they are members of the "Black Mafia."

FBI agent Melvin Jeter told U.S. Magistrate Edwin Naythons the FBI has information that Larry Starks, 25, 1400 block S. 18th st., is "near the leadership" in the Black Mafia, and his cousin, Clarence Starks, 22, 2200 block Fitzwater st., is a member of the narcotics and extortion ring.

Naythons held Larry on $125,000 bail and Clarence on $100,000 bail for a hearing March 4.

Seized in Bar

Both suspects were arrested by FBI agents Thursday night in Nookie's Bar, Medary ave. and Wister st., West Oak Lane, as they allegedly tried to shakedown the bar owner, Ulysses J. Rice, for $500 in "protection" money.

Another man, Deramus Knowles, 23, 6000 block Limekiln pike, West Oak Lane, was shot in the chest and neck by an FBI agent. The FBI said Knowles, who was sitting in the bar, pulled a switchblade knife and charged the agents as they arrested the Starks.

Knowles was admitted to Germantown Hospital in critical condition. He was charged with assaulting a federal officer.

Jeter testified at a bail hearing for the two Starks men in the Federal Building, Philadelphia.

'High Member'

Under questioning by Kenneth Bravo, attorney for the U.S. Strike Force on Organized Crime, Jeter said Larry Starks, according to FBI information, "is a high member of an organized group known as the Black Mafia."

Jeter said the FBI also had information that the organization is composed of "black hoodlums."

Dino Tinari and Jack Meyers, lawyers for the Starks, objected.

Tinari told Naythons that Jeter was "throwing every big lie" that has occurred within the last couple of years on the so-called Black Mafia, with "absolutely no proof."

Charge Term

Jeter changed the term "hoodlums" to "individuals who are involved in selling and distributing narcotics, contract murders, systematic extortion of black businessmen, protection shakedown in which they threaten great or terrible things to happen if the money is not paid."

Jeter said there also was information that Larry Starks has been "systematically extorting $700 a week from a South Philadelphia large numbers operator."

The agent testified Larry has an extensive arrest record—20 arrests ranging from violation of the Uniform Firearms Act, to contempt of court for refusing to appear. He said the charges resulted only in fines and probation.

Coxson Slaying

As to Clarence Starks, Jeter said there is an outstanding robbery warrant for his arrest in the Philadelphia courts, in which he is charged with terroristic threats.

Jeter said Clarence has three contempt citations for not appearing in court and has nine other arrests, most for firearms violations.

Clarence, Jeter told Naythons, is a member of the Black Mafia, "which organization the FBI feels had to do with the murder of Major Coxson in Cherry Hill, N.J., and the beating of a numbers man with a sock filled with steel balls."

A government attorney said after the meeting that members of the Black Mafia here pay dues to the crime syndicate, a portion of which is sent to the syndicate's top echelon in Chicago.

Murder Suspect Jailed

Bail Revoked On Drug Charge

By HARRY GOULD
Inquirer Staff Writer

Murder suspect Arthur Watson, 34, described by the FBI as the "principal figure in the Philadelphia Black Mafia," was imprisoned Friday after his bail was revoked for failing to appear for arraignment on a narcotics charge last year.

U. S. Magistrate Richard A. Powers 34 also set bail at $100,000 for Watson on a charge of unauthorized flight to avoid prosecution in New Jersey in the murder of two alleged West Philadelphia drug dealers.

Watson, also known as Brother A, was seized by FBI agents Thursday night in an apartment at 3901 Manayunk ave., where agents said he was living under an assumed name.

Watson and Timothy Graves, 32, of 5th st. near Mifflin, surrendered after FBI agents fired a shot through the apartment door and tossed tear gas into the rear of the apartment. Graves was held in $15,000 bail on a charge of harboring a fugitive.

Weapons Found

The FBI testified they found a loaded .45 caliber automatic pistol, two rifles and two sawed-off shotguns in the apartment.

Camden County Detective Joseph Price testified at Watson's arraignment that an informant telephoned him Friday morning and warned that if bail was set in any amount below $1 million, Watson would be able to raise it and "you will lose him the way you lost Harvey."

Price referred to Ronald Harvey, a suspect in the execution-type slaying of Major Coxson in Cherry Hill, N.J., who is wanted in the slayings of two members of the Muslim sect in Washington, D.C., who disappeared after posting $175,000 bail last year.

Price testified that he asked the informant where Watson would get so much bail and was told that "he has the proper connections."

Powers, however, set the bail on the fugitive charge at $100,000. The action was made moot, however, when he revoked bail of $2,500 that had been set by Federal Judge John B. Fullam last Nov. 9 when Watson was charged with conspiracy and aiding and abetting the sale and distribution of heroin.

Agent Testifies

The revocation of the bail meant automatic imprisonment of Watson.

FBI Agent Brian Carroll testified that Watson was known to be an associate of Samuel Christian, reputed Black Mafia member in Philadelphia, and that he had employed Ronald Harvey as a truck driver in a dry cleaning business.

Carroll said that in addition to the fugitive and heroin charges, Watson had been indicted in Camden County Court on a charge of aiding and abetting the distribution of heroin.

Watson and two other persons have been charged by Camden police with killing suspected Philadelphia narcotics dealers Hition Stroud, 31, of 43d st. near Mantua ave., and Walter Tilman, 34, of Master st. near 50th, on a Camden street before dawn last May 21.

3d 'Black Mafia' Arrest Reported

The FBI last night arrested a third member of what they called the "Black Mafia" in Philadelphia on a charge of extorting money from a West Oak Lane bar owner.

Richard J. Baker, special agent in charge of the FBI Philadelphia office, said James Taylor, also known as Lorenzo Robinson, 30, was arrested by agents at his home, 5200 block Henry ave., Roxborough, just before midnight.

Baker said Taylor and Donald Abney, 26, 2400 block Cumberland st., North Philadelphia, were indicted by a federal grand jury in Philadelphia Wednesday on extortion charges.

Protection Money

Baker said Abney, manager of a Southwest Philadelphia bar, was still at large "and should be considered armed and dangerous."

Taylor and Abney were charged with extorting protection money from Ulysses Rice, owner of Nookie's Bar, Medary ave. and Wister st.

He said the pair were members of the same "Black Mafia" group to which Larry Starks, 25, 140 block S. 18th st., and his cousin, Clarence Starks, 22, 2200 block Fitzwater st., both South Philadelphia, belonged.

Wired for Sound

The two Starks cousins were arrested in Nookie's Bar last Friday by FBI agents after they allegedly tried to shake down Rice for $30. Rice was wired for sound and FBI agents were staked out in the bar when the transfer of the money allegedly occurred.

Larry Starks was held in $125,000 bail, Clarence Starks in $100,000 bail. Yesterday, U. S. District Judge A. Leon Higginbotham Jr. set bail for Taylor at $100,000.

Baker said the arrests of the Starks cousins and Taylor and the indictment of Abney have "made important inroads into alleged widespread extortion activities in the Philadelphia black community."

Baker urged other businessmen paying "protection" to contact the FBI. He said conviction of the suspects could result in a $10,000 fine, 20 years in prison or both.

FBI Arrests 3d Suspect In Protection Ring Case

Warrant Out for 4th Man

FBI agents Friday arrested a third man suspected of being a member of an extortion ring, responsible for a widespread protection racket in Philadelphia's black community.

James Taylor, 30, also known as Lorenzo Robinson, was taken into custody at his apartment at 8201 Henry ave. He had been indicted Wednesday on charges of violating the Hobbs Act in an extortion case involving Ulysses Rice, owner of Nookie's Palace, a bar at 6301 Wister st. in Germantown.

Donald Abney, 26, of Cuthbertland st. near 25th, manager of the Shavezz Bakery at 437 S. 60th st., also was named in the indictment and in a bench warrant issued by Judge A. Leon Higginbotham Jr., who set bond at $100,000.

Special FBI Agent-in-Charge Richard J. Baker said Abney was being sought as a fugitive. The FBI warned that he was considered armed and dangerous.

Baker called on all who are paying protection in order to operate their businesses to report the extortion attempts to the FBI.

Each violation of the Hobbs Act could bring a penalty of $10,000 and 20 years in prison on conviction.

Larry Starks, 25, of 18th st. near Ellsworth and his cousin, Clarence Starks, 22, of Fitzwater st. near 20th, were arrested on extortion charges in Nookie's Place on Feb. 21. Donald Knowles, 23, of Limekiln pike near Church lane, was shot and wounded critically when he tried to prevent the arrest of the cousins in the tavern.

An FBI spokesman said the Starks cousins had approached Rice a few days earlier and demanded $500.

Black Mafia Leader Seized in Coxson Slaying

By MIKE LEARY

Inquirer Staff Writer

Philadelphia Black Mafia leader Ronald Harvey—arrested Wednesday on Chicago's South Side in the slayings of reputed drug dealer Major Benjamin Coxson and eight other persons—was ordered held Thursday on a $5.5 million cash bond.

An FBI spokesman said

Harvey, 33, was captured just before midnight, driving alone in a late-model car. He reportedly put up no resistance to the agents, who had staked out the area after receiving information on Harvey's whereabouts from the bureau's Philadelphia office. Harvey was on the FBI's Ten Most Wanted List.

Harvey, a Black Mafia founding member in 1968 and reputed chief enforcer of the Black Muslim-dominated crime syndicate, had been sought by the FBI since Aug. 21, 1973. He jumped $175,000 bail by failing to appear at a hearing here in connection with the killings of seven Hanafi Madh-hab Muslims in their Washington, D.C., mansion. The Hanafi sect opposes the Black Muslims and had publicly criticized Black Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad.

The FBI said Harvey would be transferred quickly to Washington to stand trial with six fellow Black Muslims, also from Philadelphia, who also are accused of the Hanafi slayings. That trial is in progress now.

Coxson was shot to death

June 8 in his rambling Cherry Hill, N.J., home along with the daughter of Coxson's common-law wife. Federal investigators say Coxson was killed because he double-crossed the Black Mafia on a heroin deal.

A second suspect in the Coxson slaying, Sam Christian, 35, was arrested by FBI agents in Detroit last Dec. 10. Christian, also wanted in the June 1972 killing of another reputed drug dealer named Tyrone Palmer, was captured only three days after he was named to the FBI's Ten Most Wanted List along with Harvey.

Harvey was arrested June 28 on a charge of killing Coxson, but he soon posted $17,500 in cash — or 10 percent of his bail — and was freed. He was indicted in the Hanafi killings on Aug. 16.

After he disappeared, his attorney, Nino Tinari, claimed that Harvey had been killed. However, Philadelphia police broadcast a bulletin for him on Dec. 13 after receiving reports that he had been seen on Lancaster ave. in one of his three 1973 Cadillacs. Harvey owned a late model Mercury and a 1973 Lincoln Continental, also according to FBI surveillance records.

During the last month, Philadelphia police had received several reports that Harvey was again in Philadelphia, traveling in the company of another reputed Black Mafia figure, Robert (Nudie) Mims, a 6 foot 4, 225 pounder wanted for murder and bank robbery.

However, Harvey told FBI agents that he had been in Chicago since January.

Harvey, a chunky man, 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighing 200 pounds, has a record of 28 arrests dating back to 1959 on charges ranging from assault to attempted murder, burglary and auto theft. He was sentenced six times, but served only a few days in jail.

Harvey is the second major Black Mafia figure to be arrested by the FBI this month. On March 7, Arthur (Brother A) Watson was arrested in an apartment at 3900 Manayunk ave., where he had been living under an assumed name.

Watson was charged with slaying two Philadelphia men in Camden last May 21. The victims were reputed to be operating couriers work for Coxson.

IRS Holds Alleged Chief Of Local 'Black Mafia'

By FRANK HEICK
Inquirer Staff Writer

Eugene (Bo) Baynes, reported head of the city's "Black Mafia" was arrested by Internal Revenue Service agents in Southwest Philadelphia Tuesday night. He has been sought since last August on tax evasion charges.

Baynes, 38, of Walton st. near 55th, was indicted by a Federal grand jury in August for failure to file income tax returns for 1970 and 1971, and, when IRS agents were unable to locate him, a fugitive warrant was issued.

Eight special agents of the IRS Intelligence Division apprehended Baynes in a second floor apartment at 7014 Lark place at 8:30 P. M. Tuesday.

Baynes has been linked with Ronald Harvey and Sam Christian, both suspects in the slayings of Major B. Coxson, his common-law wife and her daughter in their Cherry Hill home.

Baynes allegedly failed to report more than $50,000 in income.

Police sources describe the "Black Mafia" as a crime syndicate that deals in narcotics, extortion, loan sharking, gambling, prostitution and murder.

He was held overnight in the Philadelphia Police Administration Building, and will have a hearing before a U. S. magistrate this morning.

Baynes, a former city street cleaner, bartender and record promoter, owned a food market on S. 56th st. in West Philadelphia.

He has a record of six arrests dating from 1958, but has been convicted only once — in 1964 on charges of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods.

The Federal indictment alleges that Baynes earned more than $14,000 in 1970 and nearly $30,000 in 1971, and owes the IRS $8,300.

He faces a maximum sentence of two years in jail and a $20,000 fine.

Coxson Slaying Suspect Held in $3-Million Bail

Ronald Harvey, 33, of the 1300 block of S. 48th st. in West Philadelphia, was held in $3 million bail today, charged with the murder of Major B. Coxson in Cherry Hill, N. J., June 8, 1973.

Bail was set by New Jersey Superior Court Judge John F. Gerry in Camden.

Harvey was taken to that city from Washington, where he also is under high bail for the alleged slaying of seven members of the Hanafi Muslim sect Jan. 18, 1973.

He jumped bail in Philadelphia last Aug. 21 while awaiting extradition to New Jersey on the charge of slaying Coxson. He was captured in Chicago last month and held in $5.5-million bond there in the Washington slayings.

Harvey told Judge Gerry he will be represented by Nino Tinari, a Philadelphia lawyer, who was unable to appear at today's proceedings.

Harvey is accused of being one of four men who allegedly broke into Coxson's home. The intruders bound and shot Coxson. They also killed Lita Luby, 16, daughter of Mrs.

Lois Luby, 35, who was wounded.

He was arrested in Philadelphia June 28, 1973 and freed in $175,000 bail. He failed to show up for the extradition hearing.

FBI Arrests Fugitive

A reputed member of the Black Mafia was arrested Thursday at an apartment in North Philadelphia, the FBI reported.

The bureau said Jerome Muchison, 30, was arrested in an apartment on Marston terrace, near 27th st., on charges of unlawful flight from New Jersey, where he is wanted for armed robbery.

According to the FBI, Muchison surrendered without resistance, and several guns and narcotics paraphernalia were found in the apartment.

He was held in lieu of $5,000 bail at a hearing before a U.S. magistrate.

Arthur Watson Gets 10 Years In Heroin Case

By BAYARD BRUNT
Of The Bulletin Staff

"The only motive in selling drugs when you're not an addict," an assistant U.S. attorney said, "is greed to make money by destroying others."

The speaker was Gregory T. Magarity, the federal prosecutor in a case in U.S. District Court in Philadelphia against Arthur Watson, 34, an alleged associate of "Black Mafia" leaders.

A jury on May 24 found Watson guilty of conspiracy to aid and abet the distribution of $1,950 worth of heroin last year. He appeared before U.S. District Court Judge Clarence C. Newcomer for sentencing yesterday.

'Deserves No Mercy'

Magarity said the evidence in the trial showed Watson was a supplier and not an addict himself.

The prosecutor said he wanted an "extremely substantial period of incarceration (for Watson) because a person who profits and thrives on the sickness of others deserves no mercy."

Judge Newcomer gave Watson 10 years in prison to be followed by three years of special parole. He could have gotten a maximum of 30 years.

Accused of Slayings

Watson was captured by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents in an apartment in the Manayunk section of Philadelphia last March 7.

Watson has been charged with killing two men in Camden, N.J., last year, in what police called a contract slaying linked to a heroin theft in Philadelphia. He is under $50,000 bail on this charge.

An FBI agent testified last March that Watson was a close associate of Ronald Harvey and Sam Christian, reputed "Black Mafia" leaders and formerly on the list of the 10 most wanted fugitives. They have been arrested.

Jury Finds 3 Guilty Of Extortion in Phila.

Three Philadelphia men were found guilty in U. S. District Court last night of charges they extorted $500 from Ulysses J. Rice, owner of Nookie's Bar, Wister and Medary sts., West Oak Lane. The others were found not guilty.

The jury returned the verdicts to Judge Donald W. Van Arsdale at 9.30 P. M. after six hours' deliberation. The judge deferred sentencing until Aug. 15.

Found guilty were Larry Starks, 25, of the 1400 block S. 18th st.; Alonzo Robinson, 30, of the 6509 block N. Liber st., and Donald Abney, 25, of the unnamed block E. Logan st.

Two men were found not guilty: Clarence Starks, 22, of the 2200 block Fitzwater st., and Merrill Ferguson, 25, of the 200 block E. Clivedon st.

The men had been arrested by the FBI Feb. 21.

E. DISBANDMENT OF BLACK INCORPORATED

PH 92-2735

On April 26, 1974 [] advised as follows:

Although Black B, Incorporated, formerly of 1435 South Street, has disbanded publicly, the organization still exists and is thriving on a daily basis. He has seen many of Black B members making weekly rounds to various bars and taverns and corner grocery stores in the South Philadelphia area. These members appear to be making collections because they go from store to store and only stay for a few moments.

[] also known as [] is no longer in hiding from Black Mafia members.

On April 30, 1974 [] advised as follows:

Because of all of the bad publicity which has been recently seen in the Philadelphia daily newspapers, Black B, Incorporated, had decided to go underground and no longer recruit new members openly. Black B has taken down its sign that was hanging over the building located at 1435 South Street, Philadelphia, Pa. Also, the telephone numbers for Black B, Incorporated, have now been terminated. Black Mafia members are now recruiting very heavily in North Philadelphia, especially among the young youth gangs.

b7C

Because of the publicity generated by [] toward Black B, Incorporated, and its connection with the NOI, this was another reason for the organization to shut down publicly in order to avoid any more adverse publicity against the NOI.

The following is a newspaper article concerning the above matter:

"Black Brothers" Disband-Lawyer

By TYREE JOHNSON

Black Brothers, Inc., a community group that police alleged was a front for the Black Mafia, apparently has disbanded.

"They were really disappointed," said Nino V. Tinari, the group's attorney.

"THEY'VE TAKEN DOWN their sign. They've abandoned their headquarters (at 1443 South st.) and (today) I'll file for dissolution of their (nonprofit, tax-exempt) state charter."

Tinari said the group didn't have any money to report.

Black B., as the organization came to be known, opened its office last October announcing a desire to uplift the South Philadelphia community and stop gang fighting.

But the Daily News story disclosed on March 6, that the group was engaged in a bloody power struggle that had left four young men dead.

Police and other sources said the battle involved a dispute over the profits from alleged extortion, drug and robbery activities. Police arrested six Black B. members on charges ranging from weapons possession to murder.

MEMBERS OF youth gangs said Black B. was trying to take over their organizations and use them for illegal purposes.

Tinari said the fight was between two "families" — James Fox, 24, a Black B. officer, and Donald Robinson, 22, leader of the 20th and Carpenter sts.

Tinari said the group — estimated to have some 109 members — decided to dissolve because of police harassment and a bad press
